Oh.Hel

makeup artist

I grew up in leafy North Nottinghamshire as a horse groom, spending my days in stables, mucking out, grooming, and traveling to international competitions. I loved the work, but I've always had a passion for makeup too. The art of transformation, of helping someone feel the best version of themselves—it fascinated me. One day, I decided to take a risk and leave behind the life I knew, diving into makeup artistry and learning all of the techniques. It was daunting at first, from blending and contouring to finding the right products. However, I quickly realised this was exactly where I was meant to be. One of the best parts of my work is seeing a smile when someone feels their very best, especially when I get to be part of such special moments like wedding days. I love to help brides feel radiant and confident on one of the most important days of their life. Since starting as a makeup artist, I've travelled, met amazing people, and worked with incredible brands and clients who remind me every day why I started this journey. Taking a chance really does change everything.
